JERRY BUSS, CHAIRMAN/OPERATOR

Jerry Buss, one of eight charter WNBA franchise operators, purchased the Los Angeles Lakers, Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League, The Great Western Forum, and a 13,000 acre Kern County ranch in June 1979, in what was then the largest sports transaction of all-time. Furthermore, Buss' Forum hosted the first game played in WNBA history on June 21, 1997 between the Los Angeles Sparks and the New York Liberty, securing yet another place for the Buss family in the NBA/WNBA books.

An era of success unrivaled in Southern California professional sports followed. The success of the Lakers and Sparks is attributable to the combined efforts of great players, great coaches, experienced management, and out-of-the-box thinking. This teamwork, under Jerry Buss' ultimate direction, created an enormous popularity that helped the NBA and continues to help the WNBA achieve its current high level of national and international acceptance.

A graduate of the University of Wyoming with a Bachelor's degree in Chemistry, Buss earned his Ph.D. in Physical Chemistry from the University of Southern California. After a brief career in the aerospace industry, Buss and Frank Mariani, an aerospace engineer, drew upon their scientific training to launch a career in real estate. For Buss, this venture was intended only to provide income to enable him to pursue his love for teaching. Soon, however, the real estate firm of Mariani-Buss Associates expanded so fast that its demands did not allow time for other professions.

Buss parlayed his original $1,000 investment in a West Los Angeles apartment building into assets that eventually enabled him to achieve his second love, which was ownership of a major league sports team.

Since his entry into the NBA, Buss has initiated many innovative marketing changes, including a major advertising agreement with Great Western Bank in 1988 that resulted in the Sparks' current home and the Lakers' former home being named the Great Western Forum. Many of his marketing strategies are emulated by various NBA franchises as well as other teams in other leagues. He recently served two terms as President of the NBA Board of Governors.

Among other accomplishments, he and Bill Daniels launched Prime Ticket Network (now FOX Sports West and FOX Sports West 2) in 1985. It shortly became the nation's premier regional sports cable network.

Of Buss' four grown children, all are actively involved in his business operations. Johnny is President of the Los Angeles Sparks, Jeanie serves as Lakers Executive Vice President of Business Operations, Jim serves as the Assistant General Manager of the Lakers, while Janie is the Director of Charitable Services. For all of his accomplishments in business, Buss is as equally respected for his philanthropic efforts on behalf of highly divergent causes. While his is specifically drawn to supporting education, the needs of disadvantaged youth and the elderly, his contributions are all encompassing.

For his efforts he has been honored by such organizations as the City of Hope, Urban League, NAACP, the B'nai B'rith, United Negro College Fund, United Indian Development Association, American Hebrew University, National Organization of Women, Boys and Girls Clubs of America and the Los Angeles Human Relations Commission, among many others. Additionally, he funds scholarships at his alma maters, Wyoming, and USC, as well as having endowed the Magic Johnson Scholarship at Michigan State University. He runs an annual celebrity golf tournament to support the YMCA-Junior Lakers and Shooting Sparks Basketball leagues for boys and girls and a dinner in support of the Union Rescue Mission and the Skid Row Charity Fund.

JOHNNY BUSS, PRESIDENT

In his fourth season at the helm of the Sparks, Johnny Buss has been the major driver behind transforming the fledging inaugural season organization from a team which didn't make much noise in the first few seasons to a legitimate challenger to Houston's WNBA dynasty. Johnny played an active role in guiding the Sparks to the second best record in the WNBA during the 1999 season (20-12), securing the franchise's first-ever playoff berth, first round playoff victory, and appearance in the Western Conference Finals, and is confident in the on-going restructuring of the organization. With the recent appointment of Sparks inaugural season allocated player and WNBA Entrepreneurial Spirit Award nominee Penny Toler as General Manager, and Lakers legend Michael Cooper as Head Coach, Johnny has put the Sparks organization in a position to walk upon the path foraged by the success of his father, and the Los Angeles Lakers. Buss, who wore two hats during most of the 1999 season as President and acting General Manager, sparked the team to a 20-12 finish in the regular season including two franchise best 6 game winning streaks.

Known around the WNBA for setting the standard in game presentation and creativity, Buss is also behind the culmination of such WNBA staples and trendsetters as the SparKids! hip-hop performance team, and the SparkZone interactive funzone which have both been widely emulated around the league. A firm believer in community service, Buss has overseen more than 450 community appearances the Sparks have participated in or hosted in approximately three years of existence.

Born in Los Angeles, the eldest of four children (brother Jim, sisters Jeanie and Janie) to Lakers owner Dr. Jerry Buss and JoAnn, Johnny's induction into sports came early. Buss began his sports management career in the 70's as a traveling secretary for professional tennis players of World Team Tennis. Throughout these initial years, Johnny was at his father's side as they learned the business of sports together. After successfully courting the tennis scene, Buss switched to promoting concerts at the Forum, his father's latest acquisition.

In the 1980's the Buss family real estate company took Johnny to Las Vegas where he successfully managed over $70 million worth of residential property. Not able to stay away from sports for long, and a consummate risk taker, Johnny returned to Los Angeles two years later to create and manage the Los Angeles Lazers of the Major Indoor Soccer League (MISL.) After seven years with the MISL, Johnny pursued his dreams of being a professional race car driver in San Diego, but ended his career shortly thereafter at the request of his loved ones.

Since 1990, Buss has worked on many projects including producing videos with his wife, dancer and choreographer Christy Curtis, writing and scoring original music and screenplays, and producing a major celebrity autograph show benefiting the Magic Johnson Foundation.

PENNY TOLER, GENERAL MANAGER

Widely recognized as the first player to score a basket in WNBA history, Virginia "Penny" Toler was the starting point guard for the Los Angeles Sparks in the league's inaugural game on June 21, 1997 at the Great Western Forum. Allocated to the Sparks, along with Lisa Leslie, as one of two Los Angeles franchise players, Toler has become as much a part of the organization as the purple and gold. Toler retired from basketball in November 1999 after playing a combined 12 years overseas and with the WNBA to become the team's second General Manager, predominately in charge of player personnel and strategy.

A business woman by nature, Toler began her "Points From Penny" program in 1998 to teach youth in Los Angeles and Las Vegas the fundamentals of basketball, the importance of teamwork, and the value of competition. "Points" is a series of basketball clinics for boys and girls ages 7-14, and is taught personally by Toler throughout the Los Angeles area with a special annual Valentine's Weekend clinic in Las Vegas. The program has been nominated for several awards including the 1999 American Express Entrepreneurial Spirit Award. Toler also implemented an on-line component to her clinics to expand her reach on a national level. Fans can click onto wnba.com and access the "Points From Penny" program where they can ask basketball-related questions of Toler and get a weekly response of helpful tips.

A native of Washington D.C., Toler attended Long Beach State University where she set several school records including career assists (513) and career free-throw percentage (.795.) She earned Kodak All-America honors and Co-Player of the Year/Big West recognition in 1988 and 1989 before finishing her collegiate career in 1989. Toler scored 2,193 points in three seasons of play at LBSU (Toler sat out the 1985-86 season after transferring from San Diego State.)

In addition to scoring the first basket in WNBA history, Toler's professional career has been an impressive one. She played overseas from 1989-1997 for a variety of teams including Montecchio and Pescara in Italy, Sporting Flash in Greece, and Ramat HaSharon in Israel. During this time, she led her teams to several honors, and was the fifth leading scorer in the 1995 European Cup, averaging 22 points per game. During the 1997 WNBA season, Toler's accolades included a stint as starting point guard, finishing the season as the team's second leading scorer behind Leslie with 13.1ppg, and leading the team in free throw percentage hitting 83.9% of her shots from the stripe. In 1998 Toler was the only player on the team to start all 30 games, and ranked second in the league and first on the team in three-point shooting percentage (41.7%), and finished fifth in the league in assists per game with 4.8apg. Toler finished her career in 1999, a season in which she played 30 of 32 games and averaged 4.8 points and 2.2 assists per game off the bench. She also finished 5th in the league in free throw percentage (86.7%.)

Toler's hobbies include real estate investing, working with underprivileged youth, and donating toward battered women's programs. Toler has three brothers (Allen, Calvin, and William) and four sisters (Louise, Patricia, Joyce, and Valerie) and currently has residences in Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

MICHAEL COOPER, HEAD COACH

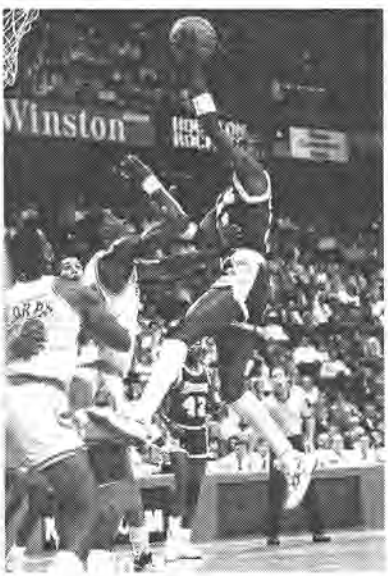
In his first year as Head Coach in the WNBA, Michael Cooper looks to lead his Western Conference Finalist Sparks squad to even bigger and better things this season. Cooper, a defensive genius during his 11-year NBA career, served as Assistant Coach last season and was an integral part of guiding the Sparks to a 20-12 record and the franchise's first-ever playoff berth. For this, he was rewarded by being named Head Coach in November, 1999. As the lone former Laker to win the NBA Defensive Player of the Year Award in 1987, and a five-time All-Defensive First Team member, Cooper will stress the importance of defense to his talent-laden squad.

Cooper's coaching experience began in March 1994 when he served as a Laker assistant under Earvin "Magic" Johnson.

Most recently, Cooper served as a Laker assistant coach from 1994-97 under Head Coach Del Harris. During this time, the Lakers ranked among NBA leaders in steals and blocked shots and established a Los Angeles record low in limiting opponents to only 98.5 ppg in the 1995-96 campaign.

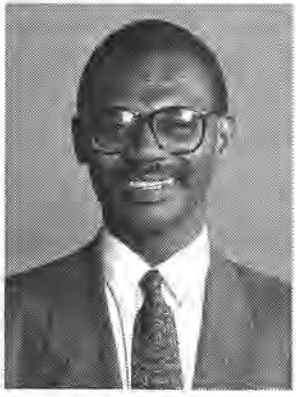
Prior to his coaching stint with the Lakers, Cooper served almost three years as Special Assistant to General Manager Jerry West. During this stint, Cooper's duties included scouting college and CBA players, and recommending new talent to the Laker front office amongst other responsibilities.

One of the most popular players in franchise history, the Los Angeles native was a third-round draft choice (60th overall) of the Lakers in the 1978 NBA Draft. He was a vital member of five championships with the Lakers (1980, '82, '85, '87, '88). Cooper retired after the 1989-90 season ranked among the club's all-time top 10 in many statistical categories, including three-point field goals (378), games played (793), total minutes (21,784), steals (966), blocked shots (487), assists (3,451), defensive rebounds (1,860), offensive rebounds (682), and free throw percentage (.829). As a Head Coach in the WNBA, Cooper aspires to send the Forum out right by leading the Sparks well into the post season in a building where he was a part of hanging 5 championship banners.



When away from basketball, Cooper is a firm believer in community service and spent the entire off-season donating hundreds of hours to Meals On Wheels, a program in which Cooper personally delivers meals to the elderly on a bi-weekly basis. Then, it's back to basketball, where Cooper spends time as an analyst for Fox Sports Net's High School Game of the Week. Cooper is a tireless public speaker, and can often be found spending time with his children, Michael Jr., Simone, and Miles. He currently resides in Los Angeles, CA.

GLENN MACDONALD, ASSISTANT COACH



One of the most popular women's basketball coaches in Southern California, Glenn McDonald brings a wealth of playing and coaching experience to the Sparks in the 2000 season. Currently the Director of Intramural Sports for Long Beach State University, McDonald is a proven winner both on and off the court. His repertoire includes over fifteen years in professional and collegiate basketball as both a player and a coach.

After several years in the professional ranks, McDonald returned to Long Beach State to complete his undergraduate degree, working as a part-time men's (1984-1985) and women's (1985-1991) assistant basketball coach before eventually assuming the women's head coaching position in 1991. As head coach for four years, McDonald established himself as an integral part of the legacy that is Long Beach State's Women's Basketball. In addition to assisting the Lady 49ers to two Final Four appearances, McDonald helped establish the fast break style that has become a trademark of the LBSU Women's Basketball program. During his tenure at Long Beach State, McDonald had the opportunity to coach some of the greatest players in the game including, Sparks General Manager Penny Toler who enjoyed two All- American years under McDonald in 1988 and 1989.

In 1974, McDonald left LBSU as a first-round draft pick for the Boston Celtics after leading the 49ers to a 24-2 all-time university record in his third and final year. As a swingman for the Celtics, McDonald was most noted for his key performance in the Celtic's historic, triple overtime game with Phoenix, in the 1976 NBA Championship finals. With 3:23 remaining in the third overtime, McDonald entered the game and scored six essential points in one 63 second burst to lead the Celtics to a 128-126 victory. McDonald remained with Boston two years before finishing his NBA playing career in 1976 with the Milwaukee Bucks. He then took his talent overseas where he competed for a year as a member of the Swedish Championship team that took third in the 1978 European Cup. He later spent six years in the Philippine Basketball Association as a player (1978-81), a player/coach (1981-82) and finally as a head coach (1982-84).

In 1996, Glenn McDonald was named Director of the Intramural Sports Department at Long Beach State, a position he will retain in the off-season. He currently resides in Long Beach with his wife, Renee, Director of LBSU Off-Campus Housing. His son, Michael, is currently the starting point guard on Stanford's nationally ranked basketball team, and his daughter, Alexis has signed a letter of intent with the University of Washington on a volleyball scholarship.

MARIANNE STANLEY, ASSISTANT COACH

One of the most successful coaches in the history of women's basketball, Marianne Stanley joins the Sparks as a 21-year coaching veteran and a winner of five national championships as a player and a coach.

Most recently, Stanley completed a four-year tenure at Berkeley where she led the Bears to their best season in six years. Stanley arrived at Berkeley in 1996 after helping lead Stanford to a NCAA Final Four appearance as Co-Head Coach during the 1995-96 season. She has compiled an impressive 415-224 (.649) overall record in her 21 years as a head coach and has earned four Conference Coach of the Year and two National Coach of the Year honors. Before coaching at Cal, Stanley signed two top 10 recruiting classes at USC during the 1989-93 seasons and rebuilt the program from an 8-19 record in her first season to three-consecutive NCAA appearances by the end of her tenure.

At the age of 24, Stanley became the youngest NCAA Division I women's basketball coach to guide a team to a national championship. Since that time she has taken her teams to 17 post-season appearances and competed in 10 final fours. She has also guided her teams to nine NCAA tournament appearances with a 20-8 record. Her mark of three national titles is second only to Tennessee's Pat Summitt, who has won six national crowns. Among those who have gone onto prominence under her guidance are, Lisa Leslie of the LA Sparks (USC, 1990-93), Nancy Liberman-Cline of the Detroit Shock (ODU, 1979-80), Anne Donovan of the Indiana Fever (ODU, 1983) and Adrian Goodson of the Utah Starzz. Stanley currently boasts a 47-13 record with 10 USA Teams, earning gold medals as an assistant coach at the 1993 World Championships in Brazil and the 1986 Goodwill Games and World Championships in Russia.

Stanley began her coaching career at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA in the 1977-78 season and proceeded to win two national titles in her first three campaigns. Old Dominion maintained its prominence as a top 10 program for all of Stanley's tenure, and the Lady Monarchs captured their third National Championship in 1985 posting a 31-3 record to win the NCAA title.

An outstanding player in her own right, Stanley was a two-time All-America guard at Immaculata College in Pennsylvania where she led her team to two AIAW National Championship titles (1973-74) and four consecutive AIAW National Championship games (1973-76). She earned her bachelors degree in Sociology from Immaculata in 1976 and then attended the Wharton School of Business in the University of Pennsylvania's continuing studies program. She was inducted into the Old Dominion Sports Hall of Fame on April 22, 1995. Stanley has one daughter, Michelle-24 and a new son-in-law, Jonathon.

SANDEE TERUYA, ATHLETIC TRAINER

Sandee Teruya returns this year for her second season as Head Athletic Trainer for the Los Angeles Sparks. A certified professional by the National Athletic Trainers Association, Teruya has served the past ten years as Head Athletic Trainer and Strength and Conditioning Specialist at Los Angeles Southwest college tending to athletes in several sports including football. During her tenure at Southwest College, Teruya has successfully rehabilitated several athletes at the tops of their sports through exercise prescription and administration, and various treatment modalities. She has written conditioning manuals outlining weight training, flexibility, speed work, and nutritional considerations for college athletes to facilitate maximum performance. During her tenure at LA Southwest, Teruya also served as a facilities planner in charge of designing and overseeing the building of the athletic training room, weight room, and fitness center for the college Physical Education Complex utilized by the Sparks during training camp and occasionally throughout the season. Teruya attended California State University, Los Angeles where she earned a bachelor's degree in physical education with an emphasis in kinesiology and exercise physiology ('87) and continued on to obtain her master's in Physical Education from Azusa Pacific University in 1994. Teruya is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, the California Athletic Trainers Association, Los Angeles Community College District Athletic Trainers Association, and the California Community College Athletic Trainers Association.

KARLEEN THOMPSON, EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Karleen Thompson enters her fourth season as Equipment Manager for the Los Angeles Sparks this year. A native of Snyder, Texas, Thompson was a highly recruited three-sport athlete in basketball, volleyball, and track out of Snyder High School and was a High School All-American in all three sports. The #1 recruit out of the state of Texas in track and volleyball, Thompson continued her playing career at Contra Costa Junior College in Northern California where she led her team to the conference championship in basketball and became the state triple jump champion. Thompson went on to become a Junior College Kodak All-American in basketball and was inducted into the Junior College Hall of Fame. Highly recruited again out of Junior College, Thompson joined coach Marianne Stanley and Sparks Center Lisa Leslie and Comets Forward Tina Thompson on the '93-'95 Lady Trojans as a starting guard. During her tenure at USC, Thompson played under the direction of Phoenix Mercury Head Coach Cheryl Miller. Thompson graduated from USC in 1996 with a double major in psychology and sociology and went on to work in sports marketing with Gatorade, in a juvenile detention home, and currently works with children in the juvenile justice system. Thompson is the proud mother of two daughters, Ayesha (13) and Keisha (12) and hopes to one day become a warden in the juvenile prison system.

CHRIS BODAKEN
VIDEO COORDINATOR/SCOUT

Entering his first season with the Los Angeles Sparks this summer, Chris Bodaken is a veteran video coordinator and scout who prepares high-caliber basketball teams for success. In today's high-tech environment, Bodaken's skills are a necessity for, without him, the coaching staff would be ill-prepared when it came time to deal with the next opponent's strengths and weaknesses. His behind the scenes work, and all-night editing sessions in the office assure the coaching staff that the Sparks (and Lakers) will know precisely what to expect each and every game.

Bodaken has served as video coordinator/scout for the Los Angeles Lakers for the past seven years including the 1999-2000 season working hand-and-hand with the great Phil Jackson. Bodaken is responsible for assembling, organizing, and updating the Lakers' and Sparks' video libraries for use in advance and college scouting. Additionally, he is responsible for providing the coaches with statistical analysis, written reports, and scouting video edits, which are frequently put to use on Laker team flights and in Laker/Sparks team meetings. And, on a growing number of occasions, Bodaken will edit a tape featuring a specific player matchup for members of the team.

A 1990 graduate of USC, Bodaken climbed the corporate ladder with the Lakers, having accepted his first job as a ball boy with the team during the 1985-86 season. After spending almost four years working under trainer Gary Vitti in that capacity, the 31-year-old South Pasadena native began to dabble in the team's video operations, working as an intern with assistant coach Jim Eyen in 1989. He served in the role until 1993, when he was hired full time as the Lakers' Video Coordinator. During Magic Johnson's brief tenure as head coach in 1994, Bodaken was given the added responsibilities of advance scouting.

Prior to joining the Lakers on a full-time basis, Bodaken was a teacher and coach at St. Francis High School in La Canada (1990-93), where he led his team to a league championship in 1992.

A huge Bruce Springsteen fan, Chris and his wife Jessica live in Santa Clarita.

CHICK HEARN, PLAY-BY-PLAY—TELEVISION

When sharpshooter Jerry West scored 29 points for the Lakers during a 110- 104 loss against the Philadelphia 76ers on November 21, 1965 at the Los Angeles Sports Arena, it appeared to be just another game on a grueling NBA schedule. After all, since that historic night, the Lakes have played 3,114 games, scored 343,219 points, used 221 different players and registered 1921 wins. However, not a single soul in the crowd of 10,609 on that November evening in 1965 can claim to have witnessed every single game, point, player and win over the last 34 years. Except for one.

That incredible distinction belongs to Chick Hearn, the lone play-by-play announcer in Los Angeles Lakers and now Sparks, history. Hearn enters his 3rd season with the Sparks and 40th season with the Lakers, continuing to provide NBA and WNBA fans, with his colorful and entertaining "words-eye-view". Boasting a consecutive game streak which only the likes of Cal Ripken could truly appreciate, Chick began the 1999-2000 Laker season with a string of 3,114 Lakers broadcasts to his credit, having not missed a game since November 20, 1965. Blessed with incredibly good health, the Aurora, Illinois native has missed only two Laker games in his broadcasting career, a streak he hopes to continue with the Sparks.

On May 9, 1991 Chick became only the third broadcaster ever to be inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. Although his many other awards are too numerous to list, they include a lifetime achievement Victor award; three-time Golden Mike Award; LA Athletic Club Hall of Fame; seven-time California Sportscaster of the Year; winner of the first-ever Cable Ace Award; 1991 CedarsSinai Journalist of the Year; 1965 Emmy Award for Excellence in Basketball Coverage; Academy of Television Arts and Sciences 50th Anniversary Award; and an induction into the Southern California Sports Broadcasters Association Hall of Fame as well as an official "Chick Hearn Day" in his home town of Aurora, Illinois

On November 30, 1995 The American Sportscasters Association bestowed Chick with yet another in a long list of tremendous honors, naming him as a member of The American Sportscasters Hall of Fame. With a short and distinctive list of inductees comprised of only 20 individuals, Chick considers the induction as the highlight of a career filled with bright moments, simply because it was his peers who voted for his entry.

Although best-known for his work with the Lakers, Chick has broadcast an assortment of sporting events, including the first Ali-Frazier fight, NCAA and NFL football and basketball including the Rose Bowl, PGA golf tournaments, and professional tennis matches. In addition to the previously listed awards, he has received numerous accolades for his outstanding work, including three Golden Mike honors and two National Sportscaster of the Year distinctions. In 1986, Chick received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. Overall, his voice has graced the airwaves for over half a century.

Born Frances Dayle Hearn, Chick grew up in Aurora, Illinois and attended Bradley University. He earned the nickname "Chick " when, as an AAU basketball player, he received a box of what he thought were sneakers, only to find a live chicken inside. Chick and his wife Marge have survived both of their children, Gary and Samantha, and currently live in Encino, CA.

ANN MEYERS-DRYSDALE, COLOR COMMENTATOR – TELEVISION

Best known for her role as a pioneer in the first generation of high-profile women's basketball players, Ann Meyers-Drysdale is a sports legend in her own right, with a stunning resume of athletic "firsts".

Meyers was the first high school player to play on the US National Team; the first woman to receive a full athletic scholarship to UCLA; the first four-time Kodak All-American in women's basketball; a member of the first women's basketball Olympic team; the first woman to be elected to the UCLA Athletics Hall of Fame; the first woman to sign a free-agent contract with an NBA team; and with her late husband Don Drysdale, the first husband-wife team to be elected to the Hall of Fame in their respective sport. In addition, Ann was also the first color analyst for NBC in the inaugural WNBA Season and returns again this year for her fourth season with NBC and her third season with the Los Angeles Sparks.

Born the sixth of eleven siblings, five boys and six girls, Ann was certainly not the firstborn in her family. She credits her older brother Dave as her inspiration to play basketball. She attended UCLA because he did and in doing so became the first-ever female recipient of a full athletic scholarship at UCLA, leading the Lady Bruins to a national championship, while also being awarded the prestigious Broderick Cup in 1978. After graduating, she followed his example again, this time into the NBA. In 1979 Meyers became the first woman to sign a contract with a men's NBA team. The Indiana Pacers signed Meyers to a $50,000 no-cut contract and gave her a three-day tryout with the team. Although she did not make the team, she did join its broadcasting crew, paving the way for her future career in the field.

In 1980, Meyers spent a season with the now-defunct Women's Basketball League, where she received MVP honors in her first year. When the league folded, she expanded her broadcasting duties, performing color analysis and play-by-play announcing for NCAA playoff games, and NCAA Division II men's basketball. Her primary employer at that point was CBS.

It was during that time that Meyers met and married fellow broadcaster and famed Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale. The couple had three children Don Jr., Darren and Drew Ann before Drysdale died suddenly of a heart attack in May of 1993.

Although her days of competing have come to a close, Meyers continues to write new chapters in the world of broadcasting. As a core member of NBC's inaugural WNBA broadcasting team, Meyers has once again set forth on the road of "firsts" and continues to forge new paths for future generations of female athletes and broadcasters around the world.

LARRY BURNETT, PLAY-BY-PLAY—RADIO

His affiliation with nationally ranked sports networks includes Fox Sports , Fox/Prime Sports, ESPN II, and CBS Sports.

Widely recognized for his thought-provoking and energetic broadcast, Burnett has received several honors and awards including "Best Sports Anchor Team" honors three consecutive years from the Southern California Sports Broadcasters Association, as well as "Outstanding Sports Reporter" and "Best Sports Feature" Emmy's from the San Diego and Miami Chapters of NATAS, and the Associated Press' Outstanding Achievement Award.

A native of New Jersey, Burnett graduated with honors from the University of Tulsa with a Bachelor of Science in Communications.

WANDA SZEREMETA, COLOR COMMENTATOR—RADIO

Born in Newark, NJ Wanda Szeremeta has been with the Los Angeles Sparks organization since its inception in 1997 and has served as its Color Radio Analyst since 1998.

A phenomenal player in her own right, Szeremeta attended Montclair State College and led her team to the NCAA Final Four in 1978. Chosen as a fifth round draft pick in the now defunct Women's Basketball League, Szeremeta led the New Jersey Gems as the all-time leading scorer and was named to the 1978 All-Star Team in her first season. In 1981, she was named interim Head Coach for the Gems following her professional retirement.

Szeremeta went on to serve as an Assistant Coach for Georgetown University from 1981-1983 before accepting a head coaching position at Clark University in Worcester, MA. Szeremeta also served as Head Coach for Polisport Lara in Venezuela and Assistant Coach at San Jose State before rounding out her coaching career as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Sparks.

When she's not coaching, Szeremeta can be found officiating in various NCAA Division I conferences, including the Pac-10, West Coast, Big West, and Big Sky Conferences. In addition to broadcasting for the Sparks, Wanda has also reported for Liberty Cable as a football sideline reporter and basketball analyst. PERSONAL Earned "Kraut" as a nickname because of last name, "Sauer-Kraut"...Role model in basketball is junior high assistant basketball coach and guardian Deanna Duerson who taught her the fundamentals of the game...Pre-game-ritual is to tape right foot first and then left foot, got hurt once after taping out of order... Favorite moment on the court was winning the 2000 NCAA Division 1 National Champion ship...An unknown fact is that she has a twin brother, Bryce who is one minute older...Loves to play volleyball, swim, ski and jog...Advice to up and coming players is "follow your dreams, and when you reach them hold on to those moments and cherish them for a lifetime"...Daughter of Wayne and Mary Sauer.

The WNBA and its teams are strongly committed to serving their communities through grassroots programs that positively influence peoples' lives and promote lifelong exercise and nutritional habits. For the WNBA, the focus is two primary outreach initiatives: WNBA Be Active and WNBA Breast Health Awareness.

The WNBA and NIKE teamed to promote the health and fitness initiative, WNBA Be Active Presented by Nike. Be Active is a 16-city grassroots initiative that encourages young people to adhere to the program's core message – "Play Fit, Stay Fit". Held in each WNBA market during the offseason between January and April 2000, Be Active features 90-minute clinics aimed at boys and girls, ages 11-14. Each clinic, conducted by one of the four national spokeswomen and a local WNBA player, focuses on three key areas of fitness: endurance, strength and flexibility. The program's national spokespeople - Team Be Active- are Cynthia Cooper (Houston Comets), Jennifer Gillom (Phoenix Mercury), Nykesha Sales (Orlando Miracle), and Suzie McConnell Serio (Cleveland Rockers). Participants also attend seminars conducted by health and fitness professionals on the importance of health and nutrition. The clinics were developed in collaboration with the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

To broaden the reach and ensure a year-round fitness message, WNBA Be Active Presented by Nike has expanded the overall program with new in-season elements that include fitness clinics for women and youth, a National Be Active Day, in-arena promotions, court refurbishment projects and content on WNBA.com.

Sears WNBA Breast Health Awareness

Now in its fourth year, Sears WNBA Breast Health Awareness is a partnership with the National Alliance of Breast Cancer Organizations (NABCO). The initiative draws national attention to the issue of breast health and the importance of early detection through the 3-Point Play for Good Breast Health – clinical breast exam, self-exam, and mammography.

This season, the program will continue to promote breast health through awareness nights in all 16 WNBA arenas. Mammogram information and breast health guides will be distributed and through its commitment, Sears will donate $.50 to NABCO for every fan that attends a Breast Health Awareness night. The funds will be used to support breast health services for medically underserved women. Breast health public service announcements will air on national television and in-arenas.

ULS

ULS is the Sparks' official fan club for kids of all ages. You can join ULS and receive special Sparks prizes and a points book to receive unique gifts with every point you earn. For more information, call (310) 419-DUNK!

Wheel Chair Basketball

For the past few years, the Sparks have been sponsoring one of their most successful community initiatives, wheelchair basketball. Athletes compete in a league during the WNBA season and represent the Sparks and other teams in the WNBA. At the end of each season, the finals and exhibition games are played during halftimes of Sparks games and at the Forum.

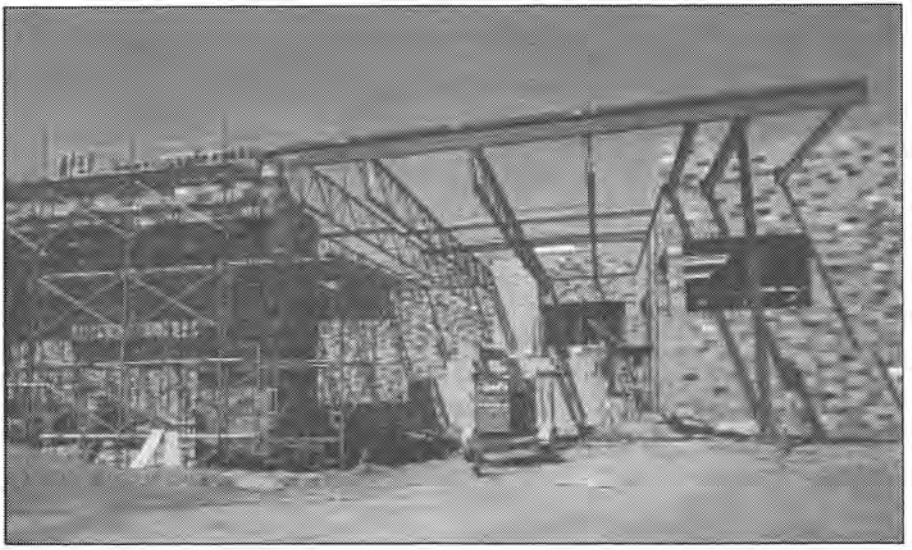
YMCA Shooting Sparks/Junior Lakers League

The YMCA of Metropolitan Los Angeles administers the YMCA Shooting Sparks and Junior Lakers basketball leagues conducted at over 30 YMCA branches in the greater Los Angeles area. More than 30,000 girls and boys ages 6-17 actively participate in the league. Participants learn about the importance of sportsmanship and teamwork while developing their basketball skills. Nike is a proud supporter of the league and outfits all players and coaches in Sparks purple and gold.

Los Angeles Sparks Community Relations Initiatives

In their three plus years of existence, the Los Angeles Sparks' players, coaching staff, team administrators, and Community Relations Department has worked tirelessly to complete over 450 community appearances. These include the Universal Citywalk Season Opening Appearance in which fans interact with the new Sparks squad to receive autographs, play "beat the pro", and meet the team in an intimate setting. Oshman's Girls and Women in Sports joint event in which fans and community members are asked to join in to celebrate women's sports and participate in a panel on women's sports participation, and many other events including the Susan G. Komen Run/Walk, the SparkZone interactive fun zone tour, giveaways in conjunction with Worldvision, and much more. The Sparks will continue their tireless efforts to give back to the Los Angeles community which has been so supportive of the new young team.

HEALTHSOUTH TRAINING CENTER



On April 28,1999 the Lakers, Sparks and NHL's Los Angeles Kings officially "broke ground" on the new $24 million HealthSouth Training Center in El Segundo. The six-acre site, which is part of the new Grand Avenue Corporate Center, includes: a basketball court, a pro shop, two public ice rinks, an outdoor in-line skating rink, a restaurant and an interactive game studio; as well as locker room, training facilities and office spaces for the Lakers, Sparks and Kings.

"This facility is not only spectacular for all of the corporate partners connected but more importantly, it is a tremendous plus for all of the players," said Sparks President, Johnny Buss. "They will truly have a home that they can come to during both the on and off season. We now have a facility that can accommodate their needs year 'round."

The Sparks front office staff is scheduled to move into the new HealthSouth Training Center in mid-November.

Originally christened the Forum during its ground breaking ceremony in 1966, the Inglewood home of the Los Angeles Sparks was renamed the Great Western Forum in 1988 as a result of a major advertising agreement.

Built by Jack Kent Cooke in 1966, the Forum has hosted over 8,000 events including five NBA and two NHL Championships in its 34 year history. It has proven to be a gracious host for the Sparks, whose defeat of Houston in last years final, regular season home game, earned the franchise its' first ever playoff berth.

In 1979, Jerry Buss purchased The Forum from Cooke along with the Lakers and Kings for $67.5 million in what was then the largest sports transaction in history.

Over the years, the GW Forum has played a prominent role in historical events of several different magnitudes. In 1997, it served as host for the WNBA's inaugural match between the Los Angeles Sparks and the New York Liberty. In 1998, it was the venue for men's and women's basketball competition in the XXIII Olympiad. The Forum has also hosted such notable events as Neil Diamond's ten record-breaking sold out performances, the first concert billing with Duke Ellington and Tony Bennett and the largest attendance of any live boxing match on the west coast when Muhammad Ali defeated Ken Norton.
